

SULU AT LAST FREE FROM BANDIT SWAY

Col. Traub Issues Order Telling How Outlawry Has Been Stamped Out.

PRAISES CONSTABULARY
Says Efforts of Men Have Won Over Formerly Hostile Aborigines.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
MANILA, Aug. 10.—(Mingling) First several years ago when all American troops were withdrawn from Mindanao and Sulu, home of the Moros, the only Mohammedans in the Philippines, have been proved by the subsequent history of the new regime in that region to be baseless. Where, five years ago, fear of the Moro and his lust for blood made the life of the foreigner one of constant worry and apprehension, there is today peace and the beginnings of a prosperity the like of which would have seemed a fool's dream in 1912.

The withdrawal of American troops and their substitution by companies of Philippine constabulary was begun soon after the arrival of Governor-General Harrison. The work of conciliating the Moro was hastened by the policies of Frank Carpenter, former executive secretary of the Philippine government, named Governor of Mindanao and Sulu, soon after Mr. Harrison's arrival here. Mr. Carpenter was the first civilian Governor of the region, succeeding Gen. Pershing, the last Governor under the military regime.

Outlaw Bands Active.
The task of Gov. Carpenter and his assistants had been a hard one. A long uphill struggle against recalcitrant and superstitious people who have always sought any attempt to change their methods of life. Every day, however, has been a factor of the Mindanao situation and each band of outlaws gave the Moros a nucleus around which they could rally for insurrection or revolt. Little by little outlawry has been stamped out.

One by one, in batches of two or three, guns and rifles hidden in forest homes and mountain huts have been turned in. Here and there schoolhouses have sprung up, to attract to them Moro children, whose parents, at first suspicious and unfriendly, have finally ended by moving their families to the settlement where the schools were located and giving up the nomadic life which has been a source of trouble for centuries and which has been the worst foe of Moro prosperity.

Sulu archipelago and Jolo island, for years the hotbed of outlawry in Mindanao, can now claim to have seen the end of years of outlawry and bushwhacking. To the man who knows the Jolo of five years ago, to the soldier whose recollection of Jolo is a memory of sleepless nights and anxious days, when the slightest noise behind his back meant the possibility of an attack by a murderous Moro or one made mad by Mohammedan fanaticism, the achievement seems incredible.

Col. Peter E. Traub of the constabulary (a Lieutenant Colonel in the regular army, on detached duty with the constabulary) has made the new era a matter of official record in a order congratulating the constabulary of Mindanao and Sulu.

The order follows:
"The district chief announces to the district in general orders the fact that in the Province of Sulu there is not a single known outlaw at large—all have been either killed, captured or have surrendered."

Archipelago Peaceful.
When it is realized that this is the first time in the history of the Philippine Islands that such a statement could be truthfully made its importance becomes apparent. The whole Sulu archipelago is in a state of law, order and peaceful control.

In October, 1914, when the undisciplined assumed charge of this district, outlawry was rampant in Sulu, and it was a place shunned by peaceful travelers; but with the establishment of stations in the heart of the affected region and with the spirit that the Sulu constabulary has invariably displayed, every officer and man, regardless of hardship and privation, regardless of danger and death, did his full duty toward the government and without malice toward the misguided creatures who, with their progenitors, had made the name of Sulu a byword in the annals of these islands.

"In the short space of twenty-one months 413 outlaws were killed, captured or forced to surrender, 197 firearms were captured, or surrendered and 800 blades were captured or surrendered. This was not accomplished without loss to our brave men, of whom 16 were killed or died of wounds and 12 were wounded and recovered. The greatest accomplishment of all, however, is that these things were done with a minimum of hatred and heartburn on the part of the population, which is gradually increasing numbers came to help us in our work of rooting out the lawless who were preying on the law-abiding, until now the people, realizing the motives that actuate us in our work, are heart and soul with us."

"It remains for the Sulu constabulary to go to conduct themselves with candor in their motives will keep on increasing and so that the various departments of government—health, education, public works and other activities—will find preparation of the soil by the constabulary fruitful in their future endeavors for the benefit of the people."

PROBE GERMAN MAIL SCHEME

U. S. Attorney Walker Examines Scandinavian Line Stewards.
Assistant United States Attorney John E. Walker, Capt. William B. O'Leary of the Department of Justice and a squad of customs men continued yesterday their search for information concerning the alleged underground system for sending mail to Germany and enabling Germans to go back to the fatherland as stewards.

Prosecutor Walker spent yesterday morning taking the depositions of Anton Biorn, a waiter in a waterfront cafe, and several stewards from the Norwegian-American line, Kristianstad, which sailed from her pier in Brooklyn yesterday morning.

Mr. Walker was at first inclined to hold the men here, but their stories convinced him that they would make comparatively unimportant witnesses, so he allowed them to leave in time to catch the steamer. Biorn repeated in detail his story involving the storekeeper of a Scandinavian liner.

Ford Wants Suit Transferred.
Henry Ford, who recently was sued by the Vitaphone Company of America for $1,000,000 for libel in connection with an advertisement published by him entitled "Humanity and Sanity" in numerous papers in the United States, has applied to the Supreme Court for the county of New York for an order to remove the cause to the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York on the ground that he is a resident and citizen of the State of Michigan. The order will be entered next Thursday.

New Paris Millinery And Our Own Copies

Our Millinery representative has returned from Paris, one of the last to view the offerings of the Rue de la Paix, the Rue Royale and the other "Millinery Streets" of Paris. As a result—never before have we been able to show such a beautiful and diversified collection of Imported Hats.

Because we shall copy these hats exactly, we have imported the materials and trimmings and it will be difficult to distinguish the copies from the originals. The original French Hats are on display in the Millinery Salon, Second floor, and the prices range from $29.50 and upward. In each instance the price we ask is less than the cost to us.

The hat illustrated is a model by Lucie Hamar, Paris. The cost to import this hat was $46.00. An absolutely true copy—perfect in quality and handwork—is priced $14.89. Other trimmed hats, $4.96, $6.89, $8.50, $11.89.

Women's Blouses of Dainty Workmanship

Georgette crepe still holds first place in blouses and Macy's still leads in values.

Illustration A pictures a reproduction of a Paris model, showing the new square neck and side buttoning. The large, flat sailor collar and new shaped cuffs are distinguishing features. The collar, front and cuffs are trimmed with bands of taffeta joined with hemstitching. White, flesh, or gold Georgette crepe. $7.94.

Illustration B shows a dressy blouse of Georgette crepe and satin. Four box pleats of Georgette crepe edged with heavy silk fringe extend to the lower blouse of satin in front and back. The idea is also carried out in the sleeves at the satin cuffs. Note the square neck effect with turn-back tabs. White or flesh. $12.74.

A Very Girlish Model of unusually heavy quality white Georgette crepe is characterized by the daintiest embroidery in varicolored silks on the flat collar, tiny pointed pocket, straight cuffs, and even on the little buttons which adorn the front. $5.49.

Several Models of Crepe de Chine in tailored or semi-tailored styles, some with novelty shaped collars. May be had in flesh or white. $2.79.

Other blouses at prices ranging from $3.79 to $18.74.
Macy's—Third Floor, 34th Street.

"Marchioness" Front Lace Corsets

Macy's has realized the importance of corset service,—and here you will find a model suitable for your figure. A slight incurve at the waist is an essential of the new mode. "Marchioness" corsets feel comfortable, look well, and wear long. Macy's prices will attract you.

For the slender figure, a lightly boned corset with medium low bust and hips. Made of flesh color novelty cloth. Elastic section at back. The sizes range from 23 to 30. $2.89.

An excellent model of pink striped material has large sections of elastic inserted in the skirt to give a continuous, unbroken line to the figure. It has a very low bust line and slightly raised back. Sizes 25 to 30. Illustration C. $5.49.

A good model for the average or full figure is heavily boned, medium bust line, full through diaphragm, long skirt, embroidery trimmed. Sizes range from 24 to 33. $5.49.

A Corset for Every Figure, $4.69
For the Average Figure—A model of dainty, flowered pink or white brocade, trimmed with a narrow lace edge. Low bust, medium length skirt.

For the Slender or Average Figure—Illustration B pictures a good model with low bust, elastic band at waistline, long straight skirt with free hips, elastic sections.

For the Long Slender, Slender Figure—Illustration A model similar to Illustration B with slightly higher bust line and medium length skirt. Sizes 23 to 28.

For the Well Developed Figure—This corset is made of strong white coutil, well boned, with medium bust and extra long skirt. Sizes 25 to 34.

Macy's—Third Floor, 34th Street.
